Telecommunications Group for a Declaratory Ruling that the Basic Universal Service Offering Provided by Western Wireless in Kansas is Subject to Regulation as Local Exchange Service
WT Docket No. 00-239

Ex Parte Submission

Dear Ms. Salas:

Pursuant to the April 6, 2001 meeting between representatives of Western Wireless Corporation ("Western Wireless"), my colleague, Michele Farquhar, and Jim Schlichting, David Furth, Jeffrey Steinberg and Rose Crellin of the FCC Wireless Telecommunications Bureau, I hereby submit for the record in the above-referenced proceeding, a copy of the following:

- Affidavit of Ms. Penny Price, Executive Director, Wireless Residential Services, Western Wireless (dated May 3, 2001) whereby Ms. Price affirms that Western Wireless' basic universal service ("BUS") offering has mobile service capabilities and is expressly marketed as a mobile service. The affidavit includes two exhibits: (A) Sample BUS Customer Invoices, and (B) Representative Sample of Mobility Records of Kansas BUS Customers, both of which provide additional support for Ms. Price's affirmation.

On a related note, in paragraph four, Ms. Price's affidavit confirms that the total weight of the Phonecell SX3I wireless access unit used by Western Wireless' BUS customers is 8.3 pounds. I wish to make clear for the Commission that this weight includes the weight of the rechargeable battery. Without its battery, the unit weighs 4.5 pounds.

Pursuant to Section 1.1206(b)(1) of the Commission's rules, one original (with attachments) and one copy (with attachments) of this letter are being filed with your office. In addition, I am sending one copy of this notice to the FCC staff listed below. Please contact me with any additional questions.

Respectfully submitted,

AFFIDAVIT OF PENNY PRICE

I, Penny Price, do hereby declare under penalty of perjury that the following is true and accurate to the best of my knowledge, information and belief:

1. I am Executive Director of Wireless Residential Services for Western Wireless Corporation ("Western Wireless"), a position I have held since May 2000. My business address is 3650 131st Avenue, S.E., Suite 400, Bellevue, Washington 98006. My business telephone number is 425-586-8003.

2. In my capacity as Executive Director of Wireless Residential Services, my responsibilities include managing Western Wireless' entire residential service program. This means that once Western Wireless becomes qualified as an Eligible Telecommunications Carrier ("ETC") in a given state or territory, I am responsible for implementing all aspects of the Basic Universal Service ("BUS") offering in that state. I manage all aspects of Western Wireless' efforts to market residential services in all of its territories, including Kansas. Among other things, my responsibilities include developing and implementing the sales and marketing efforts for this service. As a result, I am in a unique position to explain the methods that Western Wireless undertakes to market its basic universal service ("BUS") offering in the state of Kansas and also to share the comments that I receive both from my sales team and Western Wireless' BUS customers and potential customers.

3. General CMRS Service Offerings in Kansas. Western Wireless offers a wide variety of cellular service offerings, including a range of service packages with different rate levels, rate structures, and customer equipment options within the state of Kansas. All of Western Wireless' cellular service offerings in Kansas, including the BUS, are commercial mobile radio service ("CMRS") offerings. The BUS offering is just one of a number of mobile cellular service options in the state of Kansas. BUS uses the same infrastructure and network facilities as all other cellular services offerings. The customer interface units or wireless local loop units used by BUS customers are also used by other cellular customers. The primary difference then between BUS and other cellular service offerings is price and local calling area.

4. BUS Service Offering in Kansas. As explained above, BUS is a cellular service offering that utilizes mobile customer equipment. Today, the wireless local loop unit typically used by BUS customers is the Phonecell SX3I wireless access unit manufactured by Telular Corporation. The Phonecell SX3I wireless access unit was especially designed for customers who desire a universal service offering that has some of the attributes of local exchange service but the ease and flexibility of mobile cellular service. The 8.3 pound unit, which includes the battery and is based upon AMPS technology, is capable of being moved and ordinary does move. Like a handheld phone, the Phonecell SX3I wireless access unit plugs into any standard electrical socket for continuous operation. In this mode, the unit's battery is constantly recharging. When mobile, the unit has a capacity for 8 hours in "stand-by" mode and one hour in "talk" mode using a single battery back-up, which is provided with all Phonecell SX3I wireless access units. Western Wireless provides this $300 unit with battery backup to our BUS customers at no cost to the customer, but it must be returned upon termination of the service contract. Significantly, Western Wireless provides battery backup for the Phonecell SX3I for all of its BUS customers to allow for mobile operation. The battery backup is an optional feature of the Phonecell SX3I that adds to the cost of the unit, but because BUS is provisioned as a mobile cellular service, Western Wireless provides this optional feature without charge as part of its BUS offering.

5. Kansas Service Area. Western Wireless offers BUS in five rural towns within the state of Kansas. They are: (1) Alta Vista, where the approximate total population of 463 includes about 215 households; (2) Ellsworth, where the approximate total population of 2,294 includes about 1,145 households; (3) Marion, where the approximate total population of 1,906 includes about 913 households; (4) Minneapolis, where the approximate total population of 1,983 includes about 899 households; and (5) Seneca, where the approximate total population of 2027 includes about 944 households. Western Wireless' marketing materials graphically illustrate to customers in each community the scope of "local" calling areas where use of their BUS unit will not incur long distance charges or roaming charges.

6. Marketing of the BUS Service. It is my experience, and that of my sales team, that the mobility of the unit is most definitely a selling point. As part of Western Wireless' sales demonstration, all customers (and potential customers) are told that the phone is mobile. My sales team expressly markets the BUS as a convenient, mobile communications product that not only is capable of being moved, but ordinarily is moved. Indeed, Western Wireless' sales associates demonstrate the service by taking an actual unit, activating the service, and moving the unit around. The sales associates often take the unit outside in order to show its flexibility and mobility. When and if the customer selects the BUS option, the very unit used for demonstration purposes within the sales facility is boxed up and given to the customer. As noted earlier, the unit is provided to the customer by virtue of a "zero cost lease" and is returned to Western Wireless only upon termination of service.

7. Questions Asked Most Frequently by Consumers. During the course of a sales demonstration, customers and potential customers have a number of questions for my sales team with regard to the BUS. It is my experience that, almost always, these questions include the issue of mobility. For example, customers ask if the telephone unit can be moved from one location to another. Like any potential cellular service customer, rural Kansans want the ease of "anytime, anywhere" communication that wireless service offers. The potential customers want to know if they can move the unit from room-to-room within their homes, take the unit out to the barn or detached garage during the times they are working outside, or take the unit on the farm truck or tractor while surveying the property. We are always pleased to provide a most resounding "yes" to these types of questions. The unit is meant to be mobile and is marketed and demonstrated in that manner.

8. Customer Use. It is my understanding that a great number of our BUS customers use the unit in a traditional wireless manner; i.e., they take their units with them when they are on the go. Our billing records indicate that many of our Kansas BUS customers incur roaming charges as a result of using their phone in a mobile manner. Attached as Exhibit A are copies of customer invoices demonstrating that these customers are in fact using the Phonecell SX3I wireless access unit in a mobile manner. The invoices show that customers are incurring roaming charges, as shown on the invoice under "Roaming Usage Detail," when using the unit outside of the defined local area. Calls placed while the customer is within the local area, which covers a large geographic area where a BUS customer can roam without incurring roaming charges, are identified on customer invoices under "Home Usage Detail." Therefore, the "Roaming Usage Detail" reflects only a small fraction of the actual mobile or portable use by the BUS customers.

9. Customer Feedback. Based on reports from our sales representatives, our Kansas BUS customers readily take advantage of the mobility feature of the units. For example, rural Kansas customers may buy and sell crafts and antiques at weekend flea markets, auctions and fairs. Sellers are able to connect the Phonecell SX3I units to credit card processing terminals as they sell their homespun crafts and special wares. Acceptance of a credit card can mean the critical difference between a sale and no-sale. This is just one example of how the mobility feature can benefit Western's BUS customers. Farmers and ranchers are able to routinely transport the unit with them during planting and harvest. Customers with summer homes and cabins can use the mobility of the Phonecell SX3I unit to unique advantage by taking their primary phone with them on vacation. Both the billing and roaming data and the comments we receive from our BUS customers support the fact that the Phonecell SX3I wireless access units are ordinarily used in a mobile manner. Attached, as Exhibit B, is a report that provides a Representative Sample of Mobility Records of Kansas BUS Customers. This report shows a sample of Kansas BUS customers, the identification of the cell site where the BUS customer originated the call, and the number of calls originated on each cell site. For example, BUS customer #120906736 originated calls from four different cell sites: 13 calls from cell site 13, 3 calls from cell site 14, 407 calls from cell site 42, and 64 calls from cell site 58. This data demonstrates that Kansas BUS customers are using the Phonecell SX3I over multiple cell sites, proving the mobility of Western Wireless' BUS offering.

10. Thus, Western Wireless' BUS service offering in Kansas is indeed a mobile cellular service offering, much like handsets, bag phones, and car phones. The unit is capable of being moved, is intended to be moved as part of its ordinary use, and our customers ordinarily use the phones in a mobile manner.

The statements made in this affidavit that I submit here are true and accurate to the best of my knowledge, information and belief.
